been the last Monday in August.

Owing to financial pressure A. J. Hyder, who is living at Amy, Colorado, felt it necessary to temporarily discontinue the Chronicle to his address. Monday we received a letter from him in which he says: "Will you please send the Chronicle, it seems that we can't do without it." We certainly take pleasure in placing the name of Mr. Hyder on our mailing list.

Miss Maude Dunbar went to Rockwood Saturday to pass a few weeks there the guest of relatives and friends.

At the Chronicle office there is a watch left by Charles Cullens to be sold for the repair charges, which are $2.00. It is an Elgin watch and would seem to be cheap at $6.00 to $10.00. If you want it come for it soon or we will return it to Mr. Cullens.

Hugh Center was in from Crab Orchard Saturday. Mr. Center and brother conduct a stock farm about four miles north of Crab Orchard and are among the most successful farmers in the county. Mr. Center stated that they had saved 91 wagon loads of hay this season and that from three acres they cut thirteen tons of sapling clover and timothy. While that is a very large yield of hay it will be understood that by the time that hay is fully cured it will shrink considerably, but that quantity taken from so small an acreage is certainly remarkable.

They have been visiting friends at Sparta and came here last week for a few weeks before returning home. Miss Maude England, sister of Mrs. Burnett arrived Saturday to visit some time with friends and relatives here. They will all return via Sparta when they leave for home.
